NOTES.
The Cincinnati made only two errors in Saturday's game at Syracuse.

Evan Morris has gone into practice for his race on the 16th with Smith.

Barber's boat house will enter a fine new boat in the Exposition procession Wednesday.

Reiley has returned to the Stars and Pierce is now playing first base for the "Independent Stars."

Magner, left fielder for the "Independent Stars," is playing a beautiful game of ball. Yesterday he went to the bat four times and made three of the base hits out of the five hits made in the game. He made one run, put out two men, assisted once, and didn't make an error. Magnier, old boy, you're a darling.

The entertainment given at Hibernia Hall Saturday night was a success. The dancing, singing, singing, etc., was all highly appreciated by the large crowd present, but Fellows and Hollywood were the stars.

They gave an exhibition of scientific spinning—not a single thread was given to the audience if it didn't satisfy Mac, of the Enquirer.

Base-ball Saturday—At Syracuse, Cincinnati 6, Syracuse 0; at Boston, Buffalo 1, Boston 10; at Providence, Chicago 5, Providence 11; at Troy, Cleveland 5, Troy 13.

The order of the League Championship now stands: Providence 48, lost 21, Boston 45-24, Chicago 43-25, Buffalo 37-27, Cincinnati 34-29, Cleveland 23-4, Syracuse 21-47, Troy 16-53.

At the Cleveland races Saturday, Rienzi, Belle Brassfield and Jack-of-Trumps were winners; at Prospect Park Luke Blackburn, Chignita, Clemmie G. Faida and Bertha; at Minneapolis, Katie Middleton, Little Gipsy and Rowdy Boy at Beacon Park, Emma B. and Beatrice. The unfinished 116 class was postponed with Driver, Hams and Dick Switzer to heats each.

OUR EXPOSITION.
The Great Work Hasdome Progressing—Some of the Exhibitors, etc.

On Wednesday not the grand show will be commenced and commemorated by a superb turn-out of the manufacturers and merchants of this city. It will be a day that will never be forgotten, as it will be the dedication of the magnificent new buildings erected by the beneficence of our prosperous and generous citizens.

Crowds of people will throng our thoroughfares from a section of the country, each eager to see the sights displayed in our numerous and gaudily decked stores. The fountain, the theaters, and the hill-top resorts will undoubtedly be places of great interest for one month our city will have a population not excelled in curiosity and event excitement, perhaps, by those of the original Paris.

The Exposition will be the center of attraction, and the tide of travel will swell on Elm street at an enormous rate.

The grand procession will be something never before witnessed in this city, as the participants are expending large amounts of money, time and labor on their displays and each is trying to eclipse the other. Every available horse, wagon and cart in the city has been pressed into service.

Decorative art has been exhausted, genius of man has been applied to full capacity, and material in abundance has been used with a lavishness never before thought of, to make this parade a crowning success.

Disguised visitors will be present and speeches will be made in the Auditorium of Music Hall when the Exposition will be formally opened to the public.

The grotto and cascade are receiving finishing touches, and evergreens are being planted among the rocks in very picturesque style. The walks are almost finished. They are very prettily laid out, and will be rolled hard and dressed by a border of sodding on either side. Large beds of flowers will be planted in the intervening space. The restaurant is situated in the west end of this hall, and is being very tastefully fitted up by the Keppler Brothers, who will cater to the people's appetite during the Exposition.

The following is a schedule of the principal exhibitors, who are now getting their displays in order for the opening day:

J. & P. Coates, of Paisley, Scotland, manufacturers of spool cotton, are erecting a fine display of machinery, and will manufacture thousand of yards of cotton during the Exposition. They also have a mill in Pawtucket, Rhode Island, and are the largest firm in this line in the country. Sir Peter Coates, a Scotch Baron, is the senior partner of the firm. They employ in their factories from five to six thousand operatives in constant attendance on the machines of their display. Their space is twenty-four by thirty-one feet, and they will have room enough for visitors to pass around the machines and see them working. Mitchell & Rummelsberg are erecting the railing around the space.

The Spear Fluid Soap Company are getting their exhibit in order, after being moved several times from space to space. Stove dealers are coming in quite rapidly, and some of their exhibits are splendidly gotten up.

Mr. Daniel Thomas will exhibit his patent stove-top fastener in the stove department and it will be a novel feature in that line.

Davis & Co., Chamberlain & Co., William Resor & Co. and several firms from abroad, will have very large displays.

The work of preparation is progressing very fast but will be utterly impossible to finish ever thing before the opening day. There is so much to do in the way of stands, railing, booth, cases, etc., to say nothing about putting the goods in place.

The Blymye Manufacturing Company will have on exhibition several large portable and stationary engines and a large cane mill for crushing sugar-cane. They will drive the mill with their own power.

The engine driving mill will be 9x16 and the mill has rolls 20 inches in diameter by 4 feet in length, double geared.

Tilden, Gray & Co., agents for H. R. Worthington, of New York, are putting in four duplex pumps, which is a specialty of these manufacturers. They are agents for a number of machine companies, and will have a large display. All the pumps will be practically demonstrated.

Clark's Spool Cotton exhibit is nearly ready for operation and their case is handsomely made. They will distribute over three thousand spools of thread during the show, free of charge.

The Willamette Spool Cotton Company have been assigned space on the side of Clark's, and it is presumed that the rivalry of these three firms, as they vie with each other in the manufacturing of this article, will be very spirited and hot.

Simpson & Gault, manufacturers of the Peerless Wringer and mill machinery, are making every effort toward a fine display of their goods. They are assigned space in the east end of the hall, and will have some very fine samples of their work in operation.

Cope & Maxwell have a space of 28 by 25 feet, and intend showing about thirty of their pumps in different shapes and sizes, and will have five or six of them in operation.

The Long & Allstatter Company, of Hamilton, O., are manufacturers of punching machines, and will exhibit a huge and powerful boiler-punch and shear combined; also a steam hammer.

C. H. Brown & Company, of Fitchburg, Mass., are the builders of the large driving engine. The engine is an automatic cut-off, 125 horse-power, with a cylinder 18 by 48 inches. The large fly-wheel is 16 feet in diameter and 25 inches face, and weighs 7 tons. Mr. H. C. Deane, of Fitchburg, is superintending the work on it.

The Hoyer Manufacturing Company, of Mansfield, Ohio, will exhibit some fine harvesting machines, such as table rakes, twine binders, etc. Their space is eleven feet nine inches by twenty-three feet.

Thomas Ludlow & Rodgers, of Springfield, Ohio, will display a sample of their wheat drills.

Farmers' Friend Manufacturing Company, of Dayton, Ohio, have their exhibit all in place. It consists of some finely-made agricultural machinery of all kinds.

W. P. Knitz, agent for laundry machines, will make a long display of this class of goods, including the famous Short blanket washer and mangle.

P. P. Mast & Co., Springfield, O., will have an exhibit of Agricultural machinery.

Thomas, Son & Co. will exhibit a cornice brake, screw and pendulum die-press, and patent rocking chairs.

Rotary Wheel Company have artistically arranged samples of their wheels in the west end of the second floor of Power Hall, near the elevator.

The piano display in Dexter Hall is being pushed rapidly along, and there will be great attractions in this line of goods.

C. E. Geisendorff & Co., of Indianapolis, have a blanket display in the north corridor of Music Hall.

The Kansas Pacific Railroad Company will give a good display of the products of the country through which the road lies consisting of grain and agricultural products. They have just received a car load of these exhibits.

Geo. W. Elsun & Co. will have a fine pyramidal display of canned fruits. Each can will be labeled with an exquisitely printed label.

Messrs. George H. Hilton & Co., manufacturers of ink, will exhibit their goods in the Main Building, near Andrews' Bazar. It will be a fine display of all kinds and colors of ink and writing fluids.

OUR BUSY MEN
Here and There Among the Cincinnati Hives of Industry.

Mr. Jack Manning is doing the steam-pipe work at the Exposition.

Mr. Porter, the brick-mason, laid the foundation at the Exposition for the big engine.

Messrs. Simpson & Gault are getting up a large display of their mill machinery for the Exposition.

Jas. Jones was in the city yesterday, visiting his numerous friends. He will return to his home at Springfield to-day.

The Brunswick & Balke Co. will have some of the finest billiard tables, balls, cues and cue-theons ever made anywhere, on exhibition in the Music Hall.
